

“Stop Fu*king Acting.”

Find the truth in your work. Weekly Acting Workshop with Ronnie Marmo

Thanks to ZOOM, Ronnie will finally be able to teach a weekly acting workshop. As a fundraiser for Theatre 68 during the Covid-19 crisis, join him to improve your audition technique, scene work and to navigate the industry in the following ways:

- ... break down your scripts with thorough comprehension
- ... make your work unique
- ... learn how to trust your instincts
- ... find the emotional truth in your work
- ... get more detailed in your scene study
- ... work moment to moment
- ... deepen the development of your characters
- ... identify and break old habits
- ... find your confidence; overcome fear & doubt
- ... empower yourself by approaching your career from a business perspective

- FREE* OPEN HOUSE May 13, 2020
- Every Wednesday starting May 20, 2020 3pm PDT - 6pm EDT
- $150 per every 4 – week cycle
- Limited Space Available
- Location: ZOOM in from anywhere in the world!

To enroll or inquire, contact us at:
ronniemarmoworkshop@theatre68.com

Director – Actor – Producer – Writer

Ronnie Marmo is a 22 year veteran actor, director, producer and writer who is originally from Brooklyn, NY. Most recently, Marmo inked and starred in “I’m Not A Comedian... I’m Lenny Bruce”, directed by Joe Mantegna. The play has ran for over 300 performances between Los Angeles, New York and Chicago. He is also known for his television work on Criminal Minds, Lethal Weapon as well as a 150 episode arc as Detective Ronnie Dimestico on General Hospital. As an actor, Marmo has starred in more than 60 feature films including Deuces Wild, Back In The Day and others. He has directed over 50 stage-plays, films and TV series. He has also produced 12 films and 110 plays/musicals in LA, NYC & CHI. Marmo is the proud Artistic Director of Theatre 68 in LA and NYC for the last 19 years.

 www.facebook.com/ronnie.marmo

 @ronniemarmo